The Tabby Road Journey

In 2017 we made the decision to purchase some property on a small island off the coast of South Carolina. It was on this island that our dream of a bourbon whisky brand first took shape. We derived our name from the historic Oyster Tabby Ruins that still stand on this island and along the eastern coastline. Our Tabby Road brand represents the journey of early coastal settlers who used simple, high quality ingredients to create Tabby based structures, many of which still stand today. We took this idea of using simple, high quality ingredients that when expertly crafted create something unique and distinct.

At the core of our whisky business we are guided by our family values that act as our compass and inspire us everyday. We are a veteran owned, family operated business. We are 60% female operated, with all 5 family members involved in the operations and strategic business decisions for Tabby Road.

We know what it's like to need a little help on life's journey from time to time, so in that spirit Tabby Road gives back to national and local social causes. We like knowing that every purchase of Tabby Road helps to pave a path to support someone else's journey through life and make things just a little easier.

We tip our glasses to those that came before us and to those that will follow. We hope that you will make Tabby Road part of your life journey as well.
